- Roman shades are the simplest and most practical window treatment to accent a room or to provide privacy.
- They have a more decorative, elegant appearance than other shades.
- Using less fabric than other window treatments, roman shades are cheaper alternatives to ornate window treatments.

Types of Roman Shades

- Flat Roman Shades
- Hobbled Roman Shades
- Folding Shades
- Balloon Roman Shades
- Room Darkening Roman Shades
- Light Filtering Shades

WINDOWS

Flat Roman Shades

- Offers a modern and contemporary look.
- Lies flat against the window when fully extended and forms neat stacked folds, like an accordion, when raised.
- Appear as a smooth solid piece that can be visible even when the shade is fully extended.
- They look excellent in solid and printed fabrics.

WINDOWS

Hobbled Roman Shades

- Even when fully extended, the hobbled roman shade retains its soft, overlapping folds, or loops, creating a flowing, cascade look, closer to the look of drapery.

WINDOWS

Folding Shades

- Traditional style in shades.
- Contains evenly spaced overlapping folds making it simple to use.
- Gives a classic and traditional look to a home.

WINDOWS

Balloon Roman shades

- Gives a formal look to the room.
- Contains box pleats above followed by a series of balloon shaped folding towards the bottom.
- Usually look good in dining and formal living room
- Widely used in restaurants and hotels.

WINDOWS

Room Darkening Roman Shades

- Right for people who prefer a dark and cool atmosphere.
- They block the sunlight.
- Creates a dark and soothing environment.
